Deputy sheriff Joe Martin said the dead were Fred Wiedower, 52; his son, Freddy Mack, 10; Dan Henderson, 64, of Heber Springs; his wife, Mrs. Cora Henderson. 64; their two daughters, Deborah Diane, 4, and Mariha Jane, 2; C. B. Marsh, 37, of Panburng; and his wife, Mrs. Albadene marsh, 21.

The survivors are Mrs. Fred Wiedower, critically injured; Dallas Wiedower, 21, son of the Wiedowers; and John Glover, wo lived with them.

The apartment was converted from an old smokehouse and car shed while the Wiedowers completed a new house. The family slept in the attic which they entered by climbing a ladder.

Glover said Fred Weldower got up about 4 a.m. and put wood in

Anti-Trust Law in Sports Hits Trouble

By TOM NELSON
United Fress Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP) - Two words spelled trouble in Congress loday for a proposed sports anti-

The House anti-trust subcomfillice approved a "middle-of-the-Foad" bill to place business asbeëts of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey under anti-trust regulation.

The measure stems from a le gnl@furmoil over whether pro sports are subject to the same anti-trust laws which apply to big bitsiness. In 1953 the Supreme Court ruled that baseball was exempt from the laws. But last year it held that football came under the statutes, and implied that hockey and basketball did, too.

After long hearings on the mat fer last year, the House judiciary subcommittee Thursday came up with a bill aimed at straightening out the situation.

It would make anti-trust laws apply to commercial aspects of professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey - for example, ownership of parks, or intorest in several teams in the same league.

Bill Makes Exceptions

But the bill would specifically exempt retivities which are "reasonably necessary" to the equalization for teams in a league, the guarantee of territorial franchises and the preservation of public confidence in the honest of sports

Here is where the argument arises: Whether to require sports to show that these activities are "reasonably necessary" to the three aims. As stated in the bill. or simply "relating to" them, as proposed in an amendment by Rop. Kenneth B. Kenting (R-

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) chairman of both the subcommittee and the full Judiciary Committee, said the exemption as drawn was almed at permiting sports to continue their player reserve clauses, player drafts, farm systems and other activities. which might otherwise be ruled trade restraints." But Keating, senior Republican on the subcommittee and the full committee, served notice he will try, to change the words "reasonably necessary" when the Judicinry Committee takes up the bill

If the phrase is left in, Keating said it would "invite" players and others to file lawsuits to challenge every sports agreement or practice as not being ably necessary."
